Project Title: Anne May Wong Website

I'd like to build this site as multiple pages to help break down the website. I hope for it to contain tabs on her childhood, the beginning of her acting career, and the struggles behind the activating industry. I thinking of adding many images and videos to build the individual pages. The home page will introduce the basic information about Anne's impact and life, setting the stage for the next page. The next page will contain information about her childhood. The third page will be about her acting career and how that had an impact on the industry. The last page would be the struggles of Asian Americans in Hollywood films. All these pages will list sources, including the Wikipedia page, other sources for photography, and any other credits.
